Little Italy shooting suspect caught

Alias. Police say Dean Wiwchar, 26, was carrying identification under different names

Following a dramatic downtown ambush that at least one witness mistook for a movie taping, Toronto police have arrested a 26-year-old man in connection to the targeted attack in Little Italy earlier this week.

Dean Wiwchar, who is originally from British Columbia, will appear at College Park court Friday morning where he is expected to be charged with first-degree murder in the death of John Raposo, 35.

Det. Sgt. Terry Browne said the individual became a suspect "probably the moment" the crime was committed.

Speaking to reporters at 51 Division Thursday night, Browne said he was limited in what he could say as the investigation is ongoing.

Wiwchar was carrying documentation for another identity as well as his own.

The detective also said the Little Italy shooter appeared to be wearing a blonde wig at the time of the attack.

Browne would not say where Wiwchar was going, where he was coming from or how police knew he was in the cab. The RCMP and York Regional Police assisted with the investigation.

David Barmherzig, who owns Fashion Warehouse in Cabbagetown, was sitting near his shop window Thursday afternoon when well over a dozen police cruisers descended on the intersection.

Unmarked police cruisers had secretly been tailing a dark-coloured taxi van as it travelled south on Parliament Street. As the vehicle rolled up to the stop light at Gerrard Street East, investigators made their move. Cruisers, some marked, others not, appeared from all sides, boxing the van in.

With their guns drawn,

Mistaken for a movie

"I didn't even really bother to watch. I thought it was a movie filming ... there were so many police."

King Tewand, who works at a pharmacy close to where the suspect was arrested about eight uniformed and plainclothes officers clad in bulletproof vests surrounded the vehicle, Barmherzig said.

"They pulled him out before he even knew what was happening. The cab driver too. I felt sorry for him. They threw him down and handcuffed him. The first guy was taken away immediately in a car. They kept the cab driver. After about five minutes they took off the cuffs and gave him some water," said Barmherzig.

Kabir Hossain, owner of Dollar 4U, said the man taken from the back of the car was white and about six feet tall. He didn't struggle during the arrest, said Hossain. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Dog safe after getting loose on the Gardiner

OSPCA. Animal runs into traffic after police rescue him from sweltering SUV

Parker, a 36-kilogram black mixed-breed dog, is exhausted but safe after an ordeal that saw police rescue him from a hot vehicle parked in the lot of the Loblaws store at Queen's Quay and Jarvis Street, only to have him slip out of his collar and run up the Jarvis off-ramp onto Gardiner Expressway.

The dog was recaptured, taken into the care of Toronto Animal Services and the Ontario SPCA, then given back to his owners Thursday night. Police and the OSPCA have launched an investigation and charges could be laid.

"Crazy day," said a smiling, perspiring Const. Matt Butt, a Toronto Police canine officer, shortly after he chased and caught the dog. "When he was going up the Gardiner, it was kind of touch and go ... But the end result is that he's safe."

Once the police officers arrived at the scene, they were able to get the back door of the SUV open. Butt slipped his leash onto the dog's collar.

"I had him," said Butt. "But his collar was too big. ... We opened the door, and then he got agitated, flipped around on his back, the leash came off and that was it."

The dog's owners could either face a ticket under the City of Toronto's animal care and control bylaw, or face provincial or criminal charges.

Thursday's call was just one of many Toronto police have been getting about animals in hot vehicles. Police have received 152 complaints since June 16; 61 serious enough to dispatch police and fire crews.

Owner's return

- Police waited in the Loblaws parking lot for the dog's owners. At 4 p.m., police left a note instructing them to contact Toronto Animal Services.
- An hour later, three people returned and a man picked up the notice left by the police. They did not answer questions from reporters.

Owners returned at 5 p.m. to find a note from Toronto police.

Beat the heat: Go naked

Some people eat ice cream to cool down. Others go see a movie and sit in air-conditioned comfort. Stephane Deschenes recommends taking off all your clothes.

The owner of Bare Oaks Family Naturist Park in East Gwillimbury is offering free passes to first-timers to escape the heat wave by peeling off and cooling off around the swimming pool and lake.

Staff grudgingly let a reporter break the strict "no clothing" rule, clad in suffocatingly hot pants and a long-sleeve dress shirt. Having people in clothes around makes others uncomfortable with stripping down, said Deschenes.

"(The policy is) to make people feel more comfortable when they start but it's also because we want to be in a uniform homogenous environment of people who get it," said Deschenes who has owned the nudist park for six years.

"People are crazy to choose to wear clothes on a day like today," said Nikki Lafrance, a park employee.

Bruce, who declined to give his last name, has been coming to Bare Oaks for five years. On Thursday, when temperatures reached 34C, Bruce was out on his deck working.

"I'm walking around watering the flowers and I don't have clothes sticking to me," he said. "Right now I'm probably a lot cooler than you are."

According to Ira Jacobs, professor and dean of the faculty of kinesiology and physical education at the University of Toronto, Bare Oaks may be on to something when it comes to cooling down.

Jacobs studies how the human body handles extreme weather, including heat like Toronto has been experiencing.

"When you have a lot of sweat on a skin's surface, the only benefit is if you can evaporate it," he said. With the exception of specially designed athletic wear, the effect is inhibited by layers of clothing.

Stephane Deschenes feels that being naked makes the almost 40-degree weather bearable.

STEVE RUSSELL/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

As long as it's not too humid, Jacobs said naked people may evaporate sweat more easily than those who are clothed.

34 C. Record-breaking temperatures too hot for Toronto highway

Toronto broke heat records on Thursday set more than 60 years ago.

When the mercury hit 34 C Thursday afternoon, the city officially broke its June 21 record high of 33.3 C set in 1949.

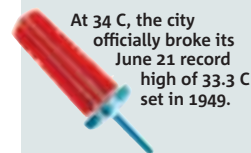

The scorching weather has caused health concerns, traffic delays and triggered the city to issue extreme heat alerts for Wednesday and Thursday.

A stretch of highway was shut down for almost three hours Thursday afternoon after the concrete buckled under the heat.

"Pavement heaving is rare but it may happen during high temperatures," said Astrid Poei from the Ministry of Transportation.

Two collector lanes on Highway 401 at Avenue Road were closed at 12:30 p.m.

Find some shade

At 34 C, the city officially broke its June 21 record high of 33.3 C set in 1949.

after crews found about 30 centimetres of asphalt had buckled upward, Poei said. A contractor was called to grind down the heaved highway.

The lanes were reopened at 3:15 p.m., just before rush hour.

Shark-fin products. Group plans to challenge bylaw

The debate over the sale of shark-fin products has some wondering whether municipalities like Mississauga — whose ban on such items goes into effect at the end of the month — have the right to outlaw a product that Canadian law allows.

"We do have that right," says Mississauga Councillor Pat Mullin, a driving force behind the ban, acknowledging a staff report last year suggested the opposite.

Nevertheless, Mississauga council concluded it could ban the possession, sale and consumption of shark-fin products by virtue of the "powers and authorities that are afforded to municipalities" under the Municipal Act, Mullin said.

The Mississauga bylaw imposes fines of not more than $15,000 for a first conviction and up to $30,000 for subsequent ones.

Certainly, other municipalities feel the same way about the use of shark fins which are highly prized in Asian dishes, like shark fin soup. Brantford was the first Ontario municipality to outlaw shark fin products, in the spring of 2011. Toronto passed a similar bylaw which takes effect Sept. 1, and Pickering's shark fin ban begins in November. London, Oakville and Newmarket have also approved the bans.

But the legality of the bylaws may soon be tested. A Toronto group called the Fair and Responsible Governance Alliance has retained a law firm to launch a legal challenge to Toronto's shark fin bylaw (which would affect other municipalities).

However, before the action is launched, the group has asked to meet with city councillors, staff and the mayor, said Ben Leung, co-chair of the non-profit group.

Christmas Eve tragedy

Crown seeks $1M fine for firm over scaffold fatalities

Prosecutors are seeking a $1-million fine against a construction company that has become the first firm in Ontario history with a conviction for criminal negligence causing death in a shocking scaffold tragedy.

Sentencing submissions from Crown prosecutors and defence lawyers will continue next week in Old City Hall court as a result of an unprecedented plea and admissions by Metron Construction in the deaths of four workers.

But prosecutors have dropped charges of criminal negligence causing death against Joel Swartz, Metron's owner, president and sole director, because they believed there was no reasonable chance of conviction. It means Swartz won't face any jail time, a disappointment for labour advocates who pressed for significant time behind bars for parties responsible for the deaths.

Four workers died and another employee suffered serious injuries when their swing stage scaffold collapsed and plunged 13 storeys during construction repairs at a Kipling Avenue apartment building in Etobicoke on Christmas Eve 2009. It was the worst construction accident in more than half a century in Toronto. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Presto! Use your cell to pay your subway fare

Open-payment system. Starting at College Station, riders can tap mobile devices and credit or debit cards on electronic readers

TTC riders will be the first in the Toronto region to pay their transit fares with mobile devices and contactless credit cards starting this summer.

Provincial agency Metrolinx expects to begin testing open payments on the Presto system at College Station. If all goes well, the trial will be extended to Dundas Station and then to Yonge-Bloor.

Open payments mean that riders can tap a credit or debit card, or a mobile device, on an electronic reader in the same way that transit users across the Toronto region already tap their green Presto cards to deduct their fares from a pre-paid e-purse.

The TTC will get the second generation of Presto readers —

Presto rollout

- Metrolinx hopes to have Presto on all TTC vehicles and in stations by the 2015 Pan Am Games.

an update from those already installed on the GO system, 14 pilot TTC stations and seven other municipal transit services around the city.

It's similar to the new technology Metrolinx is struggling to launch in Ottawa. The readers there have worked so poorly in field tests that the July 1 launch of Presto in the capital has been delayed until at least Feb. 1. Scheidt & Bachmann, the company that makes the Ottawa fare card readers is one of 10 companies expected to bid on the TTC contract. The Toronto-region readers were made by another supplier.

"All the suppliers have to meet our requirements and part of the requirements is looking back on performance," said Metrolinx CEO Bruce McCuaig. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Province aims to clear up window safety

Regulations. New Ontario rules aim to keep glass from falling off high-rise balconies

Ontario is bringing in new rules to help prevent glass panels from breaking off high-rise balconies and tumbling onto sidewalks below, but isn't forcing the safety upgrade on all buildings.

The revision to the province's building code means construction projects started after July 1 will have to use heat-strengthened laminated glass — the same kind used in car windshields — for panels on the outer edge of balconies. However, existing highrises and condominiums as well as those currently under construction won't need to fall in line with the changes.

"The reality is that if a (building) permit has already been issued they don't have to abide by the new amendment in the building code," Municipal Why now?

- The change comes as Toronto's downtown core leads North America in active condo developments.
- There are 173 condo towers under construction in Toronto, with another 325 in the works, a real estate conference in the city heard earlier this month.

Affairs and Housing Minister Kathleen Wynne said while announcing the rules Thursday.

"But I believe that this will send a very clear message to builders about how high we think the standards should be."

The changes come after a series of incidents over the last year in Toronto's downtown core that have seen glass panels burst, sending shards from condominium and high-rise balconies onto streets below.

McDonald's Canada founder George Cohon says teams of Torontonians did the good works that got him the official key to the city, and he can't wait to share it with them.

Cohon, a tireless philanthropist and volunteer since he immigrated to Toronto from Chicago in 1967, received the key to the city from Mayor Rob Ford in a city hall ceremony Thursday, the first time Ford has chosen to bestow the honour.

Ford read a long list of Cohon's community work that included founding Ronald McDonald House for sick children and their families receiving hospital treatment, co-chairing the Santa Claus Parade, and volunteer roles with Young People's Theatre, Ontario College of Art, York University, Ontario Science Centre, Exhibition Place, Variety Village and more.

"That's just exhausting reading it all out," Ford said to laughter from an audience that included Cohon's wife, Susan, and son, Mark, the CFL commissioner. "George is a true community builder."

Cohon, 75, said he gets credit for work done by teams of people and he will share the oversized shiny key with them, including Santa Claus parade volunteers. He will also show it to kids at Ronald McDonald House, including a 15-year-old waiting for a heart transplant and a two-year-old from the Caribbean undergoing chemotherapy.

Lost custody. Obese dad to go on hunger strike

An Ottawa man who lost custody of his two kids partly due to being overweight said he will go on a hunger strike Friday on Parliament Hill to strike back at the Children's Aid Society (CAS).

In an Ontario Superior Court ruling Wednesday, Justice Martin James said the 38-year-old man's boys, aged four and six, would be given up for adoption and live apart from each other.

"(The father's) weight-loss regime is itself a full-time job," the ruling said.

The ruling also claimed that he played online video games for hours on end and tends to be "combative when people don't agree with him."

Major factor

The father's weight was mentioned several times in the 33-page ruling and was a "major factor" in the judge's decision, the man said.

- He weighs about 360 pounds and was at 520 pounds at his heaviest.

"I'm going to go on an international stage and expose this and my children will know what their father's done for them," the father said. "I hope I get to appeal and disprove all of this." JOE LOFARO/METRO IN OTTAWA

School on lockdown after black bear evades officers

A Victoria school was put on lockdown for about two hours Wednesday afternoon, as conservation officers searched for a black bear. The animal had been hit by a pickup truck on the Island

Highway earlier that morning and ran into a wooded area close to Eagle View Elementary. School staff were told to keep the children inside because injured bears can be unpredictable, said conservation officer Peter Pauwels. After struggling to locate the bear in the thick brush, officers called in the hounds and they were able to spot it as it ran from the dogs. It appeared to be uninjured.

Video of bullied woman spurs Toronto man to fundraise for her vacation

Outpouring of support.

Indiegogo.com has raised more than $250,000 US for the grandmother of eight

A viral video of a school bus monitor in New York state being bullied by four middle schoolers prompted a Toronto man to launch a fundraiser to send the woman on vacation.

"I felt deeply sad for Karen," said Max Sidorov, a graduate of York University. "I had some issues with bullying myself when I was a young kid and had just come to Canada, so I know where she's coming from."

The taunting and verbal abuse of the bus monitor was captured in a 10-minute cellphone video recorded by one of the students and posted to YouTube. It shows 68-year-old Karen Klein trying her best to ignore the stream of profanity, insults and outright threats directed at her. Parents should punish boys: Victim

Karen Klein has told police she does not want the boys to face criminal charges.

She said she is happy with the swift and strong community response against the verbal attack aboard a Greece Central School District bus, authorities said Thursday.

Criminally charging the boys, all seventh-graders, would require their conduct to rise to the level of a crime, Greece police Capt. Steve Chatterton said. So far, it has not been found to reach that level.

Klein said she hoped the boys' parents would view the video of the attack and talk to their children about being "a little more respectful." Parents of all four boys are co-operating fully and say their children will be punished, Chatterton said.

By Thursday morning, the video had been viewed more than 1.5-million times on YouTube. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Accused body-parts killer Magnotta gets trial by jury

Court appearance.

Suspect declines psychiatric evaluation, will face preliminary hearing in March 2013

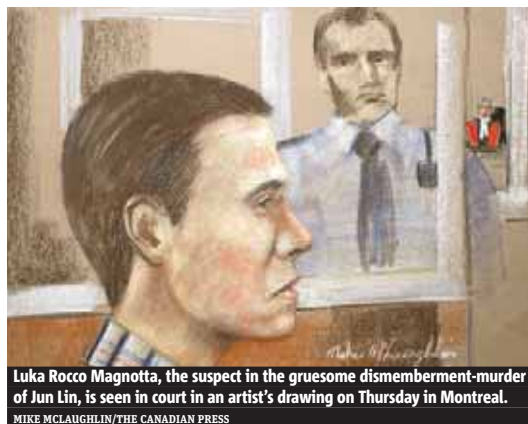

Luka Rocco Magnotta made a brief, surprise appearance in a Montreal courtroom Thursday to tie up a few loose ends in his case before vanishing from public view until early 2013.

The accused body-parts killer had court dates set for early next year and was told he will face a preliminary hearing next March where part of the evidence against him will be heard.

Magnotta, charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of Chinese student Jun Lin, 33, has opted for a trial in front of a jury.

He asked that he receive medication while incarcerated.

And he introduced his team of three lawyers, including a lead attorney from Toronto. That lawyer did not ask for a psychiatric evaluation, Luka Rocco Magnotta, the suspect in the gruesome dismemberment-murder of Jun Lin, is seen in court in an artist's drawing on Thursday in Montreal.

MIKE McLAUGHLIN/THE CANADIAN PRESS

contrary to what one of his colleagues suggested earlier in the week.

There was one other surprise twist Thursday: Magnotta appeared in court in person. Authorities had hinted that the 29-year-old murder suspect would appear by video link, as he had at his first court appearance earlier this week.

While Magnotta looked sleepy, he appeared to follow the proceedings attentively.

His lead defence attorney, Luc Leclair, made a brief statement at the end of the hearing.

"Mr. Magnotta waived his rights to extradition because he wanted to come back to Montreal," Leclair said, without taking any questions.

"He trusts the Canadian judicial system."

Luc Leclair

Tory lawyer to defend Magnotta

So who will defend Luka Rocco Magnotta — the man accused of mailing body parts to the Conservative Party of Canada? Ironically, it will be a Conservative.

Toronto lawyer Luc Leclair, who has worked on campaigns for several prominent Conservatives, will represent Magnotta.

He worked with Defence Minister Peter MacKay, in his bid for the Progressive Conservative leadership in 2003; with Belinda Stronach, when she ran for the leadership of the new federal party against Prime Minister Stephen Harper; and with John Tory, the former leader of the Ontario Progressive Conservatives.

Killer. Homolka now a mother of three living in Guadeloupe: Ebook

A new ebook says Karla Homolka is now a mother of three living in the Caribbean.

The publishers of Finding Karla say the 46-page book by journalist Paula Todd details Homolka's new life as a wife and mother.

A news release about the book says Todd, following an obscure lead, boarded a plane to the island of Guadeloupe this spring.

She subsequently tracked down Homolka and spent an hour in the convicted killer's apartment.

The ebook is published by the Canadian Writers Group and is available on Kindle Singles, Kobo, iBooks and Nook for $2.99.

In the early 1990s, Homolka and her then-husband, Paul Bernardo, were convicted of crimes related to the rape and murder of two teenage girls.

Homolka struck a deal with prosecutors in 1993 to serve 12 years in prison for manslaughter.

Little is known about her life since she was released from prison in 2005, but Karla Homolka is interviewed by Radio-Canada in Montreal on July 4, 2005, hours after her release from jail following a 12-year term for the deaths of two teenage girls in Ontario.

RADIO CANADA/THE CANADIAN PRESS

the media has tracked her down on two previous occasions.

Homolka was first discovered working at a Montreal hardware store in the months following her release and soon afterwards the location of her east-end Montreal apartment was also revealed.

You might be Overpaying for Car Insurance

There are ways to save without impacting coverage

Each insurance company charges a different rate to insure the same driver with the same exact coverage — and these rates vary considerably. By not shopping around for car insurance, you could be paying hundreds, or even thousands, of dollars more than you should. Insurers use their own claims experience to determine their rates and each company will have a different history with each driving profile and car combination. This could mean that you are overpaying for car insurance — and with so many insurance companies, odds are you may not be currently insured with the company that offers the best rate for your driving profile.

The car you drive, where you live, where you drive, and your driving record are all factors that may affect your insurance rate. While most of these items are under your control, others such as the insurance company's experience and corresponding rates are not. One insurance company may charge more for being insured in your postal code, while others may charge more for insuring sport cars. Understanding all of these considerations and knowing that each insurance company charges different rates will help you find the best car insurance rate that suits your needs.

The best way to save on your car insurance is to compare your insurance rate to those offered by other companies. But it can be extremely time consuming to compare the rates individually and brokers only offer rates from 4 to 5 different companies. Web sites like InsuranceHotline.com make it easy to compare your rate against the lowest available rates within their network of over 30 insurance companies.

It's not just about saving you money. Wait, it is.

Visit InsuranceHotline.com today and experience a fast, free, and easy service that works for your wallet.

ZipZone Naked 100. B.C. women go naked ziplining to raise money

It's hard enough to drop your inhibitions before climbing into a zipline harness. Now, imagine dropping your pants.

An organizer in Peachland, B.C., says that's exactly what nearly 100 women did Thursday as they took part in a charity event to raise money for breast-cancer research.

Kevin Bennett said the women were participating in the ZipZone Naked 100, careening for more than half a kilometre down a cable, suspended 100 metres above the ground, in hopes of raising $20,000 for breast cancer research.

Donate, but no looking

- Supporters were welcome to donate to the cause, but they couldn't watch because, Bennett said, the park southwest of Kelowna was closed to the public until the last thigh flew by.

Bennett said a 73-year-old woman was among those who took the plunge, but he also noted the women were allowed to ride in anything from their birthday suits to pasties or full costumes.

A regional airline in Saskatchewan says it has made changes to make sure it doesn't again forget to pick up its customers.

Fishing gear likely did humpback in, tests reveal

People gather around a beached humpback whale that died during low tide in White Rock, B.C., on June 12. DARRYL DYCK/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Beached. While the ropes had already been removed before necropsy, gouges reveal whale had been entangled

Preliminary results from a necropsy on a young humpback whale confirm the creature likely died a slow death from starvation after being entangled in fishing gear.

Veterinary pathologist Stephen Raverty with the Ministry of Agriculture's Animal Health Centre in Abbotsford, B.C., says ropes had obviously been buried deep in the whale's mouth.

He says the gear had been removed by the time the necropsy was carried out, but gouges on the whale's body revealed how it had been entangled, and also suggest it had developed secondary infections from the injuries.

Raverty expects more

Investigation

- Fisheries experts are working to identify the emaciated juvenile from the patterns on its tail flukes, in hopes of determining where it came from.
- Teams are also trying to track the origin of the fishing gear that snared the humpback, which is listed as threatened under Canada's Species at Risk Act.

tests will be done later this week but says the roughly eight-metre-long whale had no diseases or viruses when it beached itself and died on the tidal mud flats of White Rock beach, south of Vancouver, early on June 12. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Discrimination. U.S. government sues two polygamous towns

The U.S. Justice Department on Thursday sued two polygamous towns along the Utah-Arizona border, claiming religious discrimination against non-sect members.

The federal civil rights lawsuit was filed against the towns of Hildale, Utah, and Colorado City, Arizona, where most residents are members of the Fundamentalist Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, run by the group's jailed leader Warren Jeffs.

Jeffs is serving a life sentence in Texas after convictions on child sex and bigamy charges, but he is said to still maintain control of the communities.

The lawsuit comes after state legislatures in Utah and Arizona failed this year to pass bills aimed at abolishing the local police department that monitors the communities.

The Arizona bill was being pushed by state Attorney General Tom Horne, who said Colorado City police officers who are FLDS members flout the law and instead pay allegiance first to Jeffs. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tonga

Search for missing sailors called off

Rescuers have abandoned a search for two Australians whose yacht was found wrecked off the coast of Tonga last week.

Adelaide resident Ian Thompson and central Victoria resident Erwin Claus, both in their 60s, used a satellite phone on June 14 to tell relatives they had run aground near the island of Late and their 50-foot yacht Navillus was breaking up.

A New Zealand-led rescue team found the wrecked yacht the next day but a search of the ocean and the island turned up nothing more.

Neville Blakemore of the Rescue Coordination Center said the search was suspended late Thursday after "all possible steps" had been taken to find the men.

Breast cancer survivor wins the right to swim topless

Jodi Jaacks pressed for months to swim topless in a city pool after her double mastectomy made wearing swim tops painful. DEAN RUTZ/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A hollow victory.

Seattle woman now wants the privilege of swimming comfortably extended to all cancer survivors

A Seattle breast cancer survivor whose breasts were surgically removed has gained the permission to swim topless at a city pool.

But Jodi Jaacks wants to make sure her privilege is also extended to other breast cancer survivors who want to swim comfortably.

"Initially when I heard about the reversal, I was elevated. Then it came that it wasn't a policy change, it was just an exception for me. Then I was quite deflated," the 47-year-old said Thursday.

On Wednesday, Seattle Parks and Recreation Superintendent Christopher Williams announced he was giving Jaacks an exception to the department's clothing policy.

Williams said that he will review on a case-by-case basis requests from people who have had surgery and want to swim.

After enduring two surgeries, rounds of chemotherapy and the surgical removal of both her breasts in March 2011, Jaacks wanted to turn to swimming to regain her strength. But swimsuit tops proved too uncomfortable and nerves on her chest remained tender, Jaacks said.

So she asked the manager at her city pool if she could swim topless earlier this year. Eventually, she heard from the head of the aquatics department, who told her she couldn't.

Jaacks hasn't swum topless yet. She is planning a swim on Monday. Her exception extends only to adult lap hours. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Still unhappy

"It seemed like it was a reaction just meant to appease me."

Syrian fighter pilot defects to Jordan

A Syrian girl chants anti-Assad slogans in front of the Syrian embassy in Amman, Jordan, Thursday. The placards read "We would die before backing down," and "We will be victorious by god's help." MOHAMMAD HANNON/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Diplomacy. The high-level defection is sensitive due to close ties between the countries

A Syrian fighter pilot on a training mission flew his MiG-21 warplane to Jordan on Thursday and asked for political asylum, the first defection of an air force pilot with his plane during the 15-month uprising against President Bashar Assad.

Jordanian security official.

The air force is considered fiercely loyal to Assad's regime, and the defection suggests some of Syria's most ironclad allegiances are fraying.

A spokesman for the rebel Free Syrian Army, Ahmad Kassem, said the group had encouraged the pilot to defect and monitored his activity until the jet landed safely in Jordan.

The pilot, identified as Col. Hassan Hammadeh, removed his air force tag and kneeled on the tarmac in prayer after landing his plane at King Hussein Air Base in Mafraq, Jordan, 70 kilometres north of Amman, a Jordanian security official said.

He said Jordanian officials were questioning the defector, but he will be allowed to stay in the country on "humanitarian grounds."

"He may be tortured or killed," the official said, if the pilot returned to Syria.

He declined to say what Jordan will do with the jet. The official insisted on anonymity, citing the sensitivity of the matter. Syria's state-run TV reported earlier in the day that authorities had lost contact with a MiG-21 that was on a training mission in the country.

After it became clear the pilot had defected, the state-run news agency quoted an unnamed military official as saying he was "a traitor to his country and his military honour."

The defection is a sensitive issue for Jordan, which wants to avoid getting dragged into the Syrian conflict. Jordan already has taken in 125,000 Syrian refugees, including hundreds of army and police defectors, and Syria is seeking their return. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Men accused of bribing witnesses in case against Jewish counsellor

Four men have been accused of trying to bribe witnesses in an attempt to stop them from testifying against an ultra-Orthodox Jewish counsellor charged with molesting a New York City teenager for years.

The men pleaded not guilty Thursday to charges including bribing a witness, witness tampering, and coercion.

Prosecutors say the men offered witnesses money and asked them to leave the country and not testify in the case against 53-year-old Nechemya Webberman. He has pleaded not guilty to sex abuse charges. Prosecutors say he molested the Brooklyn girl from ages 12 to 15.

Sexual abuse scandal

Sandusky jury deliberates

Jurors started deliberations Thursday in Jerry Sandusky's child sex abuse trial, a case that could send the former Penn State assistant football coach to prison for life.

Prosecutors sought to portray Sandusky as a "predatory pedophile" who used gifts and influence to lure and abuse vulnerable boys who came from troubled homes.

"What you should do is come out and say to the defendant that he molested and abused, and give them back their souls," said Senior Deputy Attorney General Joe McGettigan.

Sandusky's lawyer said the former coach is a victim of accusers with financial motives and a legal system that thought he was guilty before he was even charged.

U.S. Catholic bishops launch religious freedom campaign

Critics. Campaign accused of being a partisan assault on President Obama Roman Catholic groups in the U.S. started a two-week campaign Thursday of prayer vigils and rallies to fight what they consider government attacks on religious liberty.

The immediate target is the mandate that President Barack Obama announced in January requiring most employers to provide health insurance that covers birth control, which the Vatican opposes.

Critics accuse the bishops of organizing the campaign as a partisan assault on Obama. But church leaders say their only goal is to protect religious freedom.

The Fortnight for Freedom campaign runs through Independence Day, July 4.

"In only the past few years, we've experienced rampant disregard for religious beliefs in this country," New York Cardinal Timothy Dolan wrote in an e-book released for the Fortnight effort.

Among the examples he cites are approval for embryonic stem cell research, legal justification for torturing prisoners and support for same-sex marriage. Dolan is president of the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops.

Opponents are unconvinced. "This bishops' project isn't about religious freedom — it's about privilege," said the Rev. Barry Lynn, executive director of Americans United for Separation of Church and State. "They are asking for preferential treatment from the government, and if they are successful, it would undercut the rights of millions of Americans."

Contraception coverage

- The Obama mandate on contraception coverage included a religious exemption for houses of worship, but not for religiously affiliated hospitals, charities, universities and social service agencies.
- Many Catholics from across the political spectrum protested that the Health and Human Services department chose the narrowest religious exemption available and urged Obama to reconsider.
- In response, the president said he would require insurance companies to cover the cost instead of religious groups.
- However, some Catholic allies have called the compromise inadequate.

No money for forced sterilization victims in U.S.

Between 1929 and 1974, North Carolina forcibly sterilized about 7,600 people whom it deemed "feeble-minded" or otherwise undesirable. Many were poor black women.

Now the first serious proposal to compensate the victims has failed, with Republican lawmakers saying the budget is too tight to give them any money.

"At this point, I have lost all hope," one of the measure's biggest supporters, Rep. Earline Parmon, said Wednesday.

New video. Zimmerman re-enacts fatal shooting

Neighbourhood watch volunteer George Zimmerman re-enacted the fight he had with Trayvon Martin in police video released Thursday, giving his most detailed account yet of what led him to fatally shoot the unarmed black teenager.

Zimmerman claims in the video that Martin said "you're going to die" and reached for Zimmerman's gun just before the shooting.

The police recording was taken a day after the Feb. 26 shooting. The video, along with audio recordings of police interviews, was released by Zimmerman's attorney about a week before Zimmerman's second bond hearing on a second-degree murder charge and on the heels of unflattering telephone calls capturing Zimmerman and his wife talking in code about using money collected for a defence fund to pay debts.

In the video, Zimmerman tells his side of the story to detectives, saying he grabbed his gun from a holster on his waist before Martin could get it, and shot the 17-year-old Martin once in the chest as they fought on the ground

Interview

Detective Chris Sereno asked Zimmerman about profiling during an interview.

- "You know you are going to come under a lot of scrutiny for this," Sereno said. "Had this person been white, would you have felt the same way?" "Yes," Zimmerman said.

outside townhomes in a gated community. After firing, Zimmerman said he thought he missed.

"He sat up and said, 'You got me. You got me, or something like that,'" Zimmerman said, adding that Martin had been on top of him, slamming his head against the ground and smothering his mouth and nose with his hand and arm.

Zimmerman claims he shot the teen in self-defence, under Florida's "stand your ground" law.

Martin's parents have said Zimmerman was the aggressor.

Human-animal conflict increases in Kenya

Wildlife. Maasai men spear lions, killing six — two adult lionesses, two younger lions and two cubs — after pride killed eight goats

Crouching at dawn in the savannah's tall grass, the lions tore through the flesh of eight goats. Dogs barked, women screamed and men with the rank of warrior in this village of Maasai tribesmen gathered their spears.

Kenya Wildlife Service rangers responded to the attack, but arrived without a veterinarian and no way to tranquilize the eight lions and remove them from Ilkeek-Lemedung'I, a settlement of mud and stone homes not far from the edges of Nairobi National Park.

In the end, the Maasai men — who come from a tribe renowned for its hunting skills — grew tired of waiting, said Charity Kingangir, whose father's goats were attacked Wednesday. The men speared the lions, killing six: two adult lionesses, two younger lions and two cubs.

The lions had killed eight goats, each worth about $60.

Wednesday's killings highlight the growing threat to Kenya's wildlife posed by the rapid expansion of its capital. A week earlier, residents from another village on Nairobi's outskirts killed a leopard that had eaten a goat. Last month, wildlife service agents shot and

Kenya Wildlife Service rangers load the carcasses of six lions speared to death by residents of Oloika area in retaliation after the lions raided a boma (livestock enclosure) and ate four goats, in Kitengela, Kajiado County, Kenya, Wednesday. The Kenya Wildlife Service said the killings are a big loss to Kenya's economy, given the number of tourists who travel to Kenya to see big game. DENNIS KIBET/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS killed a lion moving around the Nairobi suburb of Karen.

On Thursday, three lions attacked and killed three goats outside Nairobi National Park. Rangers chased the lions back to the park.

Earlier this week, the Kenya Wildlife Service sent out a public notice pleading with people who encounter wild animals "to desist from killing them."

It summed up the problem in a posting on its Facebook page: "Do animals invade human space, or do humans invade animal space? How can we find tolerance for our wild neighbours? And how can we humanely remove them when they get a bit too close?"

As Nairobi enjoys a boom in apartment and road construction, an expanding population centre is putting heavy pressure on the animals, especially big cats. Nairobi National Park is the only wildlife park in the world that lies in a country's capital.

Killing lions is a crime in Kenya, but those who lose livestock to big cats frequently retaliate. About 100 lions are killed each year, and the country's lion population has dropped to about 2,000.

Lions, especially ones who leave Nairobi National Park, which is not completely fenced in, are at risk. After Wednesday's killings, the park had 37 left, KWS estimates.

Breivik belongs in a mental institution, prosecutors say

If Norwegian prosecutors get their way, no one will be held criminally responsible for the deaths of 77 people in a bomb and shooting rampage that roiled the peaceful nation.

Even though self-styled anti-Muslim militant Anders Behring Breivik insists he is sane and that he carried out the July 22 attacks for political reasons, prosecutors said in closing arguments Thursday that doubts about his mental state mean he should be sent to a psychiatric institution instead of prison.

Ultimately, it's up to the Oslo district court to decide whether Breivik is criminally insane when it presents its ruling, expected a month after the trial ends Friday.

Either way, the 33-year-old Norwegian will likely be locked up for most, if not all, of his life. But the outcome will also influence whether Norway's worst peacetime massacre goes down in history as right-wing terrorism or as the work of a blood-thirsty madman.

"I still think Breivik is clearly sane and that his rhetoric, attitudes and behaviour don't differ notably from other terrorists," said Usman Rana, a Norwegian-born Muslim of Pakistani origin who writes a newspaper column.

Rana said he doubted the psychiatric dimension would have been so prominent if the perpetrator had been an Islamist extremist.

The image of global terrorism was jolted when the blond, blue-eyed gunman surrendered to police after slaughtering 69 people at the governing Labor Party's summer youth camp. Hours earlier, he had set off a bomb in Oslo's governing district, killing eight.

Breivik immediately admitted to the attacks and called them justified. The left-wing Labor Party, in power for much of the post-war era, had betrayed the country by allowing Muslim immigrants to settle in Norway, he said.

Flaherty introduces new mortgage, lending rules

Expected announcement. Both Flaherty and Bank of Canada head Mark Carney have expressed concern about rising household debt

Buying a first home or taking out a loan against an existing residence will be more difficult for Canadians under new rules announced Thursday, but Finance Minister Jim Flaherty says it's for their own good.

For the fourth time in as many years, the finance minister moved to tighten the mortgage and lending landscape — changes that mean up to five per cent of Canadians who might be considering buying a new home will likely no longer qualify.

This time Flaherty's cutting the maximum amortization period for government-insured homes to 25 years from the current 30 years, and limiting how much home-

Those are not the only changes the government is making.

It will no longer be in the prospective buyers have the means to afford mortgage payments, property taxes and heating costs on their home.

It will do so by setting cost ratios based on household income — a kind of affordability ratio — of 39 per cent for gross debt service and 44 per cent for total debt service.

"It's a question of trying to moderate behaviour and I hope Canadians will reflect before they jump into a market at the high end," Flaherty said.

"It will mean that some people will not buy into the market. It will also mean that some people will buy less into the market; they'll buy a less expensive home or less expensive condominium.

"Good. I consider that desirable."

The changes go into effect July 9.

The most significant change is the reduction to the amortization period, bringing it back to the level it had stood historically before rising to as high as 40 years during the heady pre-recession days of 2006. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bank of Canada

Economy running on fumes: Carney

Canada's relatively healthy economy has been largely based on borrowed money but the situation cannot go on indefinitely, Bank of Canada governor Mark Carney warned Thursday.

The central bank governor's stern words to a business audience in Halifax came just hours after federal Finance Minister Jim Flaherty moved to clamp down on household lending.

Carney made clear that he endorses the moves, calling them "prudent" and "timely" to support the long-term stability of the housing market and guard against financial excesses.

Carney suggested he has no patience for the view that instead of raising interest rates his next move will be to cut the trendsetting overnight rate from the current one per cent, where it's been since September 2010.

Research in Motion woos app developers

Fierce competition. Can the BlackBerry maker win back confidence with its new operating system and focus on apps?

Even as BlackBerry maker Research in Motion faces what's certainly the most difficult period in the company's history, its executives haven't lost their sense of humour.

A whirlwind summer tour to entice software developers took a hilarious turn Thursday as the lights dimmed in a hotel conference room and several of the company's development team appeared on screen singing a parody of Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers' 'The Waiting'. "The waiting is the hardest part. BlackBerry 10 will be state-of-the-art," the executives sang in the mock music video.

"But the waiting is the hardest part."

That sentiment could be echoed throughout the tech industry as investors, analysts and consumers keep their eye on the Waterloo, Ont.-based company. RIM has tumbled from grace over the past two years with remarkable speed, but is trying to prove a newfound agility while preparing the debut of its long-awaited new smartphones sometime later this year.

The new BlackBerry 10 prototype is seen during a media event in Toronto on Thursday. DAVID FRIEND/THE CANADIAN PRESS

The pseudo-rock-band parody marked the start of the day-long BlackBerry 10 Jam showcase, designed to convince the tech industry's creative types that the BlackBerry is still a cutting-edge device with a promising future.

The event races across North America in the coming weeks before heading to Europe, Asia and Latin America later this summer. Another Canadian stop is scheduled for July 11 in Montreal.

If all goes according to RIM's plan, developers will buy into the company's new operating system and help turn its BlackBerry App World store into something that rivals Apple's iTunes app selection.

BMO. Court certifies foreign exchange class action

A class-action lawsuit against BMO Nesbitt Burns, BMO Investorline and BMO Trust Company has been certified by the Ontario Superior Court.

The suit accuses BMO of automatically converting any foreign currency that was paid into RRSP accounts into Canadian dollars without authorization.

It further alleges that BMO charged undisclosed or inadequately disclosed and unauthorized fees related to the foreign-currency transactions.

None of the allegations have been proven in court.

BMO said it was disappointed with the decision and that it would defend the case, but declined further comment because it was before the courts.

The case is seeking reimbursement of the foreign-exchange fees charged on the purchase and sale of foreign investments held in registered accounts and the fees paid related to the conversion of foreign currencies that were paid into the accounts. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Except Radiohead's concert was cancelled after a pre-show stage collapse at Downsview Park, resulting in the death of drum tech Scott Johnson. The Flaming Lips paid moving tribute, covering Radiohead's Knives Out at Yonge-Dundas Square.

3 Carly Rae Jepsen: Even Katy Perry's daring nude bodysuit couldn't trump Mission, B.C.'s pop sensation Carly Rae Jepsen. The first-time MuchMusic Video Awards performer was the big winner with three MMVAs for video of the year, MuchMusic.com's most watched video, and fan-driven ur fave video of the year for Call Me Maybe. World domination is imminent.

4 Justin Trudeau for prime minister? With the Liberal party leadership up for grabs after Bob Rae's announcement he won't run, many are wondering if the charismatic son of former prime minister Pierre Trudeau will vie for the party leadership. Justin is considering running, and a poll says 42 per cent of Canadians think he would do a good job. Trudeaumania: The Sequel.

5 Rodney King: After his brutal beating by police officers in 1991 stunned a nation, King went on national TV a year later following their acquittals, which started race riots in L.A., and pleaded for peace. King himself never found peace, battling alcohol and arrests — and was found dead in his pool Sunday morning at the age of 47. Fitting, perhaps, that it was officers who pulled him out and tried to perform CPR on him.

6 Cristiano Ronaldo: Ronaldo was a bust on the international stage, until shining for the first time at Euro 2012 this week — scoring three dramatic goals in Portugal's two wins to push them into the semi-finals. He's no Pele, but he has put himself among the greats. And he can definitely bend it like Beckham.

7 Will turns 30: It's hard to believe but the little boy who grew up before the world's eyes — son of the iconic Diana, Princess of Wales — turned the big 3-0 this week. No word on what Kate got him, but I would have recommended a flash mob with the Queen, Kate, Harry, Charles and the guards at Buckingham Palace.

8 Beau Hossler: The amateur golfer participated in the U.S. Open on the weekend, and while he didn't come close to winning — he finished tied for 29th after briefly holding the lead in the second round — remember this: He's only 17. He was cheered and serenaded at every hole, and given a standing ovation at the end. "Let's Go Hoss-ler" tees may someday go viral.

9 Jack Osbourne: The reality TV star from the famous Osbourne family announced he's been diagnosed with multiple sclerosis, discovering he had it after losing much of the vision in his right eye. "Adapt and overcome is my new motto," says Osbourne, who recently became a dad. And now possibly a spokesperson for the disease à la Montel Williams.

10 Canada's Walk of Fame: Musicians Randy Bachman and Sarah McLachlan, the late comedian Phil Hartman, ballerina Sonia Rodriguez, football player Russ Jackson and the 1972 members of Team Canada are among this year's inductees to Canada's Walk of Fame, and will get a star in Toronto's entertainment district on Sept. 22. For some reason, I didn't make the cut this year.

11 Adele's miracle: Her hit single Rolling in the Deep awoke from a coma a seven-year-old British girl, Charlotte Neve, who had suffered a brain hemorrhage. She wasn't expected to survive, but after lying comatose for a week Adele's song came on the hospital radio. Mom sang it to her and little Charlotte broke into a smile. She has since recovered. Miracle song.

Chariots pulled by large crowds

Hindu devotees from the International Society for Krishna Consciousness (ISKCON) touch a painting in reverence on a road surface during a chariot procession of lord Jagannath in Hyderabad, India, Thursday.

The annual procession of the three idols of lord Jagannath, Balabhadra and Subhadra is taken out in a grand procession in specially made chariots called raths, which are pulled by thousands of devotees.

Nine-day celebration

Three deities worshipped

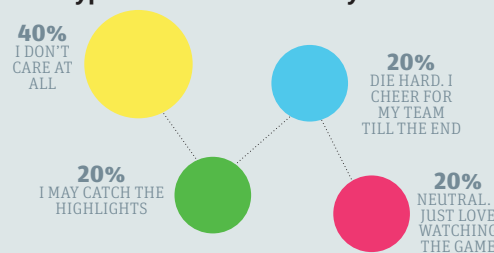

The nine-day Indian celebration marks the annual journey of the three deities to the Devi Gundicha temple, which belongs to their aunt.

"Normally, the deities are worshipped within the temple throughout the year. However, on the day of Rath Yatra, they are taken through the Bada-danda so that devotees — including non-Hindus and foreigners who are not allowed inside the temple — can have a glimpse of the gods," a member of the temple told the Hindustan Times. METRO

This is no history lesson

Abraham Lincoln: Vampire Hunter. Once you get past the crazy premise, the film is actually entertaining

Richard: Mark, for a movie about vampires it has very little bite. There are a couple of big action set pieces and bloodsuckers get killed by the dozen, but I thought the over reliance on computer generated effects reduces the vampire battles — and that's what we're paying to see! — to a bloody synthetic spray of binary code, and little more. What did you think?

Mark: I have rarely seen a movie with a more idiotic premise, but I have also rarely seen a movie of this type so beautifully shot or art directed. The

Synopsis

The story of Abraham Lincoln's bloodsucker battles begins in 1818 when his mother is killed by a vengeful vampire. His hatred of his mother's killer grows for years, but when he finally has the chance to even the score, he is instead, literally bitten by the urge to hunt vampires. Teaming up with a Van Helsing-esque warrior named Henry Sturgess (Dominic Cooper), he uses a silver-tipped axe to make sure America remains "a nation of men and not monsters."

- Richard: ●●●●
- Mark: ●●●●

3D is ravishing. If you can accept the ludicrous, absurd game of revisionist history that's being played here, you might have a good time at this flick. My main problem is that the movie adopts a different tone in its last third, after Lincoln becomes President. The cleverness gives way to spectacle, and I got left behind in all the conventional carnage onscreen.

RC: I wanted the carnage! This isn't a history lesson, it's a movie about killing vampires and on that level it only works in the film's OTT action sequences. Give me more of Honest Abe jumping from horse to horse during a stampede, and less of everything else. Although I have to have a soft spot for a movie that wraps up (MILD SPOILER) with Mary Todd Lincoln saying, "Abraham! Hurry, we're late for the theatre!"

MB: And the movie lost major points for me for not showing the scene and suggesting that Lincoln's assassin, John Wilkes Booth, was actually a vampire! The movie may not be a history lesson, but it does play with history, which gave it some tang for me. It sure wasn't the dialogue, or the acting. In fact, the lead, Benjamin Walker, got the part because he was the only actor who could embrace the premise without bursting into derisive laughter. You're right about the stampede scene, though. Exciting, original, and very memorable.

RC: You can't make a sequel if you kill the main character! No matter what really happened if this movie makes money, Abe will be back killing vampires, honestly.

MB: What worries me isn't the sequel, but the copycats: Franklin Roosevelt: Werewolf Killer; JFK: Alien Hunter; and worst of all, Stephen Harper: Zombie Slayer.

N.Y. press club not happy with Baldwin

The New York Press Club is condemning Alec Baldwin's alleged assault of a newspaper photographer outside a marriage license bureau. The press club released a statement Wednesday saying Baldwin's actions "should not be tolerated." They say he is a public figure and that his activities are "legitimate subjects of media interest." Police have confirmed that Daily News photographer Marcus Santos has filed a complaint against Baldwin. They say Santos claims he was punched while snapping photos of Baldwin and his fiancée on Tuesday.

Family Guy came first for MacFarlane before he could cuddle up with his Ted

Versatile entertainer's directorial debut was delayed due to flagship show's temporary cancellation in 2004

Metro World News in Hollywood

Seth MacFarlane has certainly established himself as a bona fide entertainer, with three animated series on TV, 2.2 million Twitter followers and a burgeoning career as a crooner.

And now he makes his debut as a director with the comedy Ted.

So why has it taken him this long to get around to making a movie?

A lot of that had to do with making sure his flagship property could survive without him.

"Family Guy had that little cancellation thing happen to it," MacFarlane says, referring to the hit show's brief death in 2001 and rebirth in 2004. "I wanted to make sure that it was fully on its feet after coming back before I stepped away to do a film because it did mean stepping away from that show completely for at least a year, and that was something that I hadn't done yet."

And while Family Guy has its origins in a pair of animated film pitches MacFarlane developed, Ted took the reverse track: "This was an idea that had actually been floating around in my head for a while. I had originally conceived it as an animated series idea and for a number of reasons shelved it," he recalls. "When it came time to

That idea — about a man (Mark Wahlberg) and his teddy bear (voiced by MacFarlane) that magically came to life when he was a kid — might seem cartoonish on paper, but MacFarlane's main concern was making the situation believable.

Set in Toronto, Sarah Polley's Take this Waltz explores infidelity

Adulterous dilemma. Actress-turned-filmmaker's latest effort deals with a moral tussle that will divide audiences

scene@metronews.ca

Take this Waltz divides audiences, and actor-turned-Oscar-nominated filmmaker Sarah Polley is perfectly satisfied with that.

"To me the film is a little too soft or something but I'm amazed at the way people are responding to it," said Polley in Toronto recently.

"People bring their past relationship to it, people bring their current relationship to it and I feel like they align themselves with one character or another...so I love hearing what people think the film is saying."

Named after a Leonard Cohen song, Polley's sophomore effort (in theatres June 29) sticks to her roots.

Set proudly in Toronto, Waltz explores a happily married woman's (multiple-Oscar nominated actor Michelle Williams) moral tussle with desires of infidelity when she meets a bohemian artist.

"I actually think the gender divide is really complicated on this one. I feel like it's much more common to see men on television and in movies have sexual restlessness and to still like them (despite) that," said Polley referring specifically to the popularity of Mad Men character Don Draper.

"It's interesting to me that we're more comfort-achievements — an aspect of her career she admits "may take a bit of a hit".

After 27 years in front of the camera however, Take This Waltz (and the Oscar-nomination she received for writing Away From Her) establishes Polley's best work in filmmaking is yet to come.

"(Screenwriting) is my favorite part," said Polley. "Maybe I feel there's actually very little art to screenwriting. Everybody is impressed if you can write a half-decent screenplay but actually anybody who's ever watched movies could. I find it kind of hilarious."

Directors. Mark Andrews,

Brave may not be one of Pixar studio's best films (Wall-E, Up) but it would be wrong to denounce it based on that. The Scottish fable of a tomboy princess who refuses to resign to marriage takes a surprising tonal turn once she unwittingly has her mother placed under a witch's curse.

Stunning animation and fun characters make up for a hollower helping from Pixar. STEVE GOW

Patang sets a family in crisis in the midst of the Uttarayan kite festival in Ahmedabad. As colourful kites sway and roll in the air above the partly ruined city, the people below are locked in inescapable suffering. It's a dramatic contrast. A wealthy man comes to visit his poor relations with promises of a new life and a free condo in his city, unleashing their resentment, negativity and mistrust. Terrific performances include those of non-actors.

Pfeiffer's one of us in People Like Us

Going to new places. Veteran actress found it liberating to display natural beauty in warts-and-all role of widowed mother

NED EHRBAR

Metro World News in Hollywood

Despite the fact that actor Chris Pine has grown accustomed to taking a beating on film — with roles in Star Trek and this year's This Means War — Michelle Pfeiffer wasn't particularly enthused about joining the party.

"Oh, I hated that," Pfeiffer says of her first scene with Pine in People Like Us, in which she slaps him across the face. "I didn't like having to do that. I didn't even like watching it. It's so brutal, really, to slap somebody. I think it's probably hard for audiences to see that. That's a really hard thing to recover from."

In People Like Us, Pfeiffer plays Lillian, the mother to Pine's Sam, who is dealing with the aftershocks of discovering his recently deceased father secretly had another child (Elizabeth Banks). Given the tension in the mother-son relationship on screen, Pfeiffer's main concern was conveying some warmth in Lillian.

"One of the things (director) Alex (Kurtzman) and I talked about from the beginning was that she just didn't become one dimensional and really cold and icy," Pfeiffer says.

"We wanted to find the humanity of this person who was just really limited and damaged and who had made certain choices in her life that she may regret, that she's not proud of. What I love about her is that she ultimately owns up and takes responsibility for those choices. I think she's unapologetic about it."

Another thing she decided to be unapologetic about was Lillian's look, presenting her natural beauty with a fair dose of weary reality.

"It's not easy to see yourself at your worst," she says of watching the finished product. "None of us want people to see us when we've just rolled out of bed and your hair is dirty and you don't have any makeup on and you're puffy from whatever you've been doing. And that's who she is."

"I wanted to do that. I wanted to go there, I felt it would be liberating."

While Pfeiffer has become much more selective about what roles she takes, that's only partly due to the quality of the work being offered.

"I'm always looking for something well-written, something interesting, a place I haven't ventured before," Pfeiffer says.

"And then there are other variables like when is it shooting, where is it shooting, how long is it shooting — because I still have family commitments and I'm always weighing that. If you look at the last three movies I've done, they have been sort of smaller parts or part of an ensemble where I can come in and come out and still be a mom and go off and get my work fix."

And when it comes to her own kids, Pfeiffer says she doesn't have the same communication issues as her and Pine's characters.

"They wish I'd shut up," she says with a laugh.

"I know I haven't made the same mistakes as Lillian. And I hope when my son is Chris Pine's age that he comes home to see me more often than that character does!"

Taking travels into darkness

Jukebox the Ghost.
Singer Tommy Siegel on the losses that led his usually peppy band to sing about Ghosts in Empty Houses

scene@metronews.ca

The first half of the new

Jukebox the Ghost album is as jaunty and upbeat as ever, but later in the journey of Safe Travels, the band trade in some of their certifiably danceable hooks in favor of deeper, darker introspection.

"To me, all good pop music — even good, sunny pop music — has a real hint of sadness going on," says guitarist and singer Tommy Siegel. "If you're all bubbles and happiness all the time, it doesn't really resonate with people."

Siegel says that most of the songs on Safe Travels, were written before the band actually assembled to record. But when pianist and vocalist Ben Thorne will lost his grandfather and drummer Jesse Kristin lost his father, both to lung cancer, it gave the latter half of the album a heightened emotional power. Tracks such as Dead, Adulthood and Ghosts in Empty Houses deal with weighty fears of mortality previously untouched in the band's first two releases.

"It is more vulnerable," Siegel says of the new album. "It's a lot more personal than we have been in the past."

Fresh off trying out the new material at the music festival juggernaut that is Bonnaroo, Jukebox the Ghost dive headfirst into the type of thoroughly demanding tour that now defines them. Their New York City show sold out months before.

"It sold out so far in advance, that there was never really any way for someone who wasn't already a huge fan of our band to get a ticket," says Siegel of the Bowery Ballroom gig. "So that's really exciting to me — that we're going to get on stage, have a sold-out crowd and it's going to be filled with only people who are really on top of the band and really like the band."

Step by step

How to go about choosing your album artwork.

- Why they went with an abstract image. The album artwork for Safe Travels features a painting from artist Christopher Ferrino. The cover photograph on their previous effort, Everything Under the Sun, is also by Ferrino. Siegel says the decidedly abstract image comes from a series of Ferrino's depiction of ladders.

The Bravest Man in the Universe

New album. Bobby Womack's been through the mill and now, with Damon Albarn's help, he's back with a bang

Metro World News

Bobby Womack has seen it all. He started his career in the '60s, collaborating first with Sam Cooke, then with everyone from Ray Charles to Aretha Franklin to Jimi Hendrix.

His solo career took off in the '70s, and the material he released then has made an indelible, if underappreciated, mark on pop music. But after a few unsuccessful albums released in the '80s and '90s, and some time in rehab, Womack had all but given up on his life as an artist.

Thankfully, his talents did not go unnoticed by Damon Albarn, whose collaborative brain-children have included Blur, Gorillaz and The Good, The Bad and The Queen. After having Womack add guest vocals to a few Gorillaz tracks, Albarn approached the soul singer about doing a full-length album. Though apprehensive, Womack agreed to go into the studio.

"I didn't know what was going to happen. I hadn't picked up my guitar for a long time," Womack says. "Plus, I had walked away from drugs completely, so that's like a whole new life — I found out I couldn't fit in because all I knew was a bunch of druggies, whether they were musicians or what. ... They was too paranoid to

Quote

Bobby Womack
On turning his life around

be around me."

Womack and Albarn settled into a comfortable collaborative relationship, which produced an album in record time.

"I've never cut an album this quick," Womack says. "What Damon Albarn would do, he would start playing a track and once he played that track I'd say, 'Man that sounds like me. I can do this.' And he said, 'OK, we'll do it' and I'd jump on the song and before I knew it, the song was finished. He had a nice way of approaching me. He let me do what I wanted to do. It was a creator talking to a creator — the things that (I had been) afraid to try, I wasn't afraid to try with him."

And so the world now has The Bravest Man in the Universe — Womack's first album of original material in more than 15 years, with featured collaborations with Lana Del Rey and Malian singer Fatoumata Diawara. Albarn's electro-beat imprint is apparent — and will serve to draw new and younger listeners in — but Womack's thoughtful soul is at the heart of the record.

"I love the fact that I have something to say," says Womack "And I'm going to say it. And I think the best way to say it is on this new album."

'I still believe in love and marriage': Katy Perry

Despite a heartbreaking divorce from Russell Brand after 14 months of marriage, Katy Perry is keeping positive.

"I still believe in love and marriage. I've just learned lessons along the way. I regret nothing," she tells the Hollywood Reporter. Still, it wasn't easy being on tour while her marriage was suddenly falling apart.

"What was going on in my personal life was so overwhelming that I had to bend over to let those tears fall straight out of my eye sockets and not my false lashes just as I'm about to go up on that ramp and sing Teenage Dream," she says.

"I had to smack myself across the face and say, 'These problems are my problems, they are not my audience's problems, learn to separate that.'"

Johnny Depp and Vanessa Paradis ALL PHOTOS GETTY IMAGES

Boredom blamed for Depp split

scene@metronews.ca

Johnny Depp and Vanessa Paradis are staying quiet about their separation — meaning "inside sources" and "close friends" are extra busy.

According to one source, the reason the ultra-famous, continent-hopping couple broke up after 14 years is pretty much the same reason us mortals call it quits: boredom, with a side of sparkly things in the distance.

"He was bored senseless with her, being with Vanessa was making him miserable," a questionable friend tells Radar Online.

"The spark had gone, and there was nothing left. Johnny just wants more from life and believes Vanessa deserves to be happier too. He's not embroiled in some hot and heavy new romance and he has no plans to jump straight into something straight away, but he is keen to have some fun again."

If nothing else, the fun part seems to be true. After performing with the Black Keys at the MTV Movie Awards, Depp's been spotted out late in Hollywood with Marilyn Manson.

It's times like this we're glad we're not artistic millionaires. Can you imagine having to try new things and party with rock stars every time your life got boring? We can barely find motivation to juice the limes.

Note to paparazzi: Don't mess with Alec Baldwin

Alec Baldwin insists he did not punch a photographer in New York recently, but he doesn't deny making physical contact with the man in question.

"There was a person in front of me and he was blocking him. And the guy lunged and almost hit me in the teeth with the lens of the camera. So I just pushed the guy away," Baldwin says in an interview with Charlie Rose.

Baldwin also takes issue with the very nature of paparazzi: "We make ourselves available as an obligation per our contract to our employers to represent the product and help to sell the product. And then when I walk out the door, that's over," he insists.

Justin Bieber getting tired of fans 'in his face'

Justin Bieber isn't always in the mood to indulge his adoring fans, as a group of them learned at the Toronto airport this week while Bieber waited for girlfriend Selena Gomez to arrive, according to Hollyscoop.

"Do I not have any right as a human being to sit and wait for my girlfriend?" he asked during a back-and-forth with some of the assembled fans demanding his attention, complaining that they'd been waiting all day to see him.

"You say you're really my fans, why do you do this? I've had a long day too. I don't have to be nicer, you guys are in my face," Bieber replied.

Jim Carrey backs out of Dumb and Dumber 2

Jim Carrey won't be taking part in a Dumb and Dumber sequel after all, with his rep telling Entertainment Tonight that Carrey had become "increasingly frustrated" at Warner Bros. and New Line Cinema's delays in getting the project going.

"I would have thought Dumb and Dumber 2 was a no-brainer," Carrey says in a statement. "After all, it's implied in the title." Carrey and co-star Jeff Daniels were all set to return for the sequel, according to co-director Peter Farrelly.

Sacha has to behave in the U.S.

To hear Sacha Baron Cohen, he has to tread lightly when in the U.S. or risk deportation. "There are towns in certain states that I can't shoot in. If I get arrested my visa could be taken away," he tells the Sunday Express in an interview, citing an incident filming Bruno in which a hotel manager called the police and Cohen escaped via a fire escape in high heels. But the trouble apparently began when he was making Borat years earlier: "They had so many complaints that there was a Middle Eastern man driving through America in an ice-cream van that the FBI assigned a team to us," Cohen says. But a rep for Cohen denies all the details his client mentioned.

Liquid Assets

A wine to match those cool summer nights

LIQUID ASSETS
Peter Rockwell
@therealwineguy
peterrockwell@eastlink.ca

I've never been much of a seasonal wine drinker. The thought of avoiding some bottles in favour of others because of the time of year has never made sense to me.

Sure, some wines have temperature issues. Now that summer has finally arrived, a heaping glass of full-bodied red can come across flabby and uninspired when it's hot.

I have to admit, though, summer is really the realm of whites: The kind of wines that refresh and thirst-quench without running amok all over your palate.

Some will suggest that a rich, dry Sauvignon Blanc is the king of summer. Others might choose an aromatic white like one made with Viognier or Chenin Blanc.

While all worthy contenders to the throne, riesling is my go-to warm weather white grape.

Schmitt Söhne's Fünf 5 Riesling ($9.95 - $13.99) is ripe and relaxed with apple-oriented fruit that's drinkable right out of its powder white bottle (OK, maybe with a straw).

The great thing about riesling is that it's amazingly food friendly.

It will help wash down everything from standard barbecue fare, seafood dishes and salads to more exotic menus inspired by Asia, India and, especially, Mexico.

Grill treats, nom, nom, nom. SUBMITTED

Traditionally, summer is a time for men to show their alpha side by getting territorial over their barbecue cooking space while sporting a ridiculous apron. It's a primal thing: raw meat, fire gazing and alcohol.

Stereotypes aside, barbecuing is globally popular and perhaps one of the few occasions that you won't complain when you're presented with a charred carcass.

However, there are ways that we can improve. Yes, gentlemen, barbecuing is not an innate skill. Chef Ben Bartlett explains why there's more to the cuisine than plonking raw meat onto a scorching grill.

Bartlett says, "It's about the flavours from the wood, marinates and spices. Flavoured woods like cherry and apple or oak add a great smoky depth to meats."

There are also some really simple things that we can do to make sure that the meat is properly cooked. The chef suggests, "If you use coals, heap them up into a pyramid add fresh fuel to the edge and push inwards — it creates a really even cooking platform. Secondly wait till your wood or coal goes ashen grey to avoid flare-ups."

The U.K.-based BBQ supremo continues, "Take your meat out 30 minutes before you cook, so that it reaches room temperature — it'll cook more evenly this way. You want to achieve a core temperature of 75 F." METRO WORLD NEWS

Mexican. Margarita Sea Bass — as seen in Ben's Top 100 BBQ Recipes

Ingredients

- 8 sea bass fillets (100 g/4 oz each)
- 100 ml (3¼ oz) white or gold tequila
- 120 ml (4 oz) Cointreau
- 150 ml (5 oz) fresh lime juice
- 1 tbsp salt
- 3 garlic cloves crushed
- 3 tsp vegetable oil
- Pinch of freshly ground black pepper

1. Place the fish in a zip lock bag.

2. Combine the tequila, Cointreau, lime juice, salt, garlic and 2 teaspoons of oil and pour over the fish.

3. Marinate for 30 minutes at room temperature, turning occasionally.

4. Heat the grill to very hot.

5. Remove the sea bass and pat dry.

6. Brush lightly with 1 teaspoon of oil and grind some pepper over the surface of the fish.

7. Grill for 3 to 4 minutes per side.

The flavours of this recipe are inspired by Mexico. METRO WORLD NEWS

Popcorn goes from movie theatre to dinner table

This Popcorn Burrito recipe serves four. THE CANADIAN PRESS/H/O

This simple and delicious Popcorn Burrito can be served as a meal or snack that's whipped up in five minutes.

Have the ingredients ready in the fridge for kids to prepare on their own. All they need to do is pop the popcorn and assemble.

1. Prepare microwave popcorn as directed on package. Set aside.
2. Lay flour tortillas on

Ingredients

- 1 pkg (99 g) buttery microwave popcorn
- 4 large (25-cm/10-inch) multigrain flour tortillas
- 1 can (398 ml/14 oz) refried black beans
- 125 ml (1/2 cup) shredded cheese (cheddar, Monterey, marble)
- 50 ml (1/4 cup) salsa
- 50 ml (1/4 cup) guacamole (optional)

large microwave-safe plates. Spread 30 ml (2 tbsp) refried beans evenly on each tortilla. Sprinkle each with 30 ml (2 tbsp) cheese. Microwave each on high for 30 to 45 seconds or until cheese is lightly melted.

3. Remove from microwave. Place 125 ml (1/2 cup) popcorn on top of melted cheese; top with salsa and guacamole, if using. Roll up and serve immediately. THE CANADIAN PRESS/ KOREY KEALEY FOR ORVILLE REDENBACHER

Honey Cinnamon Crunch. Boost microwave variety with healthy ingredients

1. Prepare microwave popcorn as directed on package.

2. Meanwhile, in a small bowl, combine flax seed, cinnamon and lemon zest until well combined; sprinkle over hot popcorn in bag and shake well.

Ingredients

- 1 pkg (80 g) trans fat-free microwave popcorn
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) freshly ground flax seed
- 10 ml (2 tsp) ground cinnamon
- 5 ml (1 tsp) lemon zest
- 15 ml (1 tbsp) honey or maple syrup, divided

3. Drizzle 5 ml (1 tsp) honey into bag and shake well. Drizzle in an additional 5 ml (1 tsp) honey; shake well. Drizzle in final 5 ml (1 tsp) honey and shake well. Transfer to a large bowl and toss again; serve immediately. THE CANADIAN PRESS/ KOREY KEALEY FOR ORVILLE REDENBACHER

Clemens risked prison by shunning plea deal in 2009

Roger Clemens rejected a plea deal that would have spared him prison time, and took his chances by going to trial.

Clemens lawyer Rusty Hardin said in a telephone interview Thursday that prosecutors offered to let the former pitcher plead guilty to one count of lying to Congress when he denied using human growth hormone. In exchange, Clemens would have received probation.

Clemens was indicted in August 2010 on six counts for allegedly lying to Congress for denying he used HGH as well as steroids. At the time, Hardin revealed that his client had rejected a plea offer, but the lawyer declined to provide the details. On Monday, a jury in Washington acquitted Clemens on all counts.

Jays pick up starter from Kansas City

The Kansas City Royals sent minor-league pitcher Sean O'Sullivan to the Toronto Blue Jays for cash on Thursday.

The 24-year-old O'Sullivan was 5-4 with a 6.75 ERA in 17 games, including five starts, for triple-A Omaha. The righty has pitched in the majors with the Los Angeles Angels and Royals, going 10-14 with a 6.13 ERA in 43 games.

Heat's Big 3 top OKC for championship

NBA. James has triple-double as Miami clinches title against Thunder in Game 5

The decision is final: LeBron James made the right call coming to Miami.

Finally an NBA champion, it's all worth it now.

James had 26 points, 11 rebounds and 13 assists, and got the kind of help that was worth leaving home for, leading the Heat in a 121-106 rout of the Oklahoma City Thunder on Thursday night to win the NBA finals in five games.

Best player in the game, best team in the league.

James has found it all since taking his talents to South Beach.

"It means everything," James said moments after the win. "I made a difficult decision to leave Cleveland but I understood what my future was about.... I knew we had a bright future (in Miami). This is a dream come true for me. This is definitely when it pays off."

James added the finals MVP honour to his regular-season award, calling it "the happiest day of my life" during the award ceremony as he stood atop the championship podium with his teammates.

He left the game along with Dwyane Wade and Chris Bosh for good with 3:01 remaining for a round of hugs and the start for a celebration he's been waiting for since arriving in the NBA out of high school as the No. 1 pick of the 2003 draft. James hopped up and down in the final minutes, shared a long hug with opponent Kevin Durant, and then smiled as he watched the confetti rain down from the rafters.

"It's about damn time. It's about damn time," James said.

The Heat took control in the second quarter, briefly lost it and blew the game open again in the third behind their role players, James content to pass to wide-open three-point shooters while the Thunder focused all their attention on him.

The disappointment of losing to Dallas in six games a year ago vanished in a blow-out of the demoralized Thunder, who got 32 points and 11 rebounds from Durant.

Ronaldo powers Portugal past Czechs

Euro 2012. Powerful header from star winger punishes Czech Republic for its negative tactics

After his fine footwork failed to find the target, Cristiano Ronaldo knocked in the only goal Thursday with a thrusting header, sending Portugal into the European Championship semi-finals with a 1-0 victory over the Czech Republic.

After Ronaldo twice hit the post, he finally darted in from behind his marker in the 79th minute with all the instincts of an all-out striker and headed a cross from Joao Moutinho straight at the ground and up past the flailing hands of Czech Republic goalkeeper Petr Cech.

"I remember in the last game I hit the post twice, too," said Ronaldo, who scored his third goal in the last two matches. "But the most important thing is I managed to score this time, we won and are in the semi-finals. Now it is big smiles and good music."

Portugal, which will play either Spain or France in the semi-finals in Donetsk, Ukraine, next Wednesday, is one game away from reaching its second European Championship final in eight years.

Ronaldo already provided some leadership and two goals to get past the Netherlands in the decisive last group game, and his encore was the lone goal on Thursday.

His strike finally punished the negative tactics of the Czechs, who had parked most of their players in front of Cech for much of the game. The Czechs did not have a single shot on goal, and only two attempts during the whole match. The Euro 2004 runners-up had 20 attempts.

"In the second half, we lost our strength and determination and they had one chance that decided the match," Czech Republic coach Michal Bilek said.

When Ronaldo finally scored and was mobbed by his teammates, he went over to the camera with a beaming smile for a victory kiss to the rest of the world.

Greeks prep for Germans without 'heart of the team'

Faced with another "David vs. Goliath" scenario against Germany in the European Championship quarter-final, the Greeks will draw inspiration from the winning side at Euro 2004.

Captain Giorgos Karagounis, whose goal sealed Greece's place in the last eight, is suspended for Friday's match in Gdansk, Poland, after receiving a yellow card for diving in the 1-0 win over Russia. Midfielder Grigoris Makos is his likely replacement, while the captain's armband will be passed to veteran Costas Katsouranis.

"We'll miss Giorgos tomorrow," Greece striker Fanis Gekas said Thursday. "He's the heart of the team. We'll have to close ranks to win."

That's nothing new to a defensive-minded Greece, which will be underdogs against a German team that won all three of its group matches. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NHL draft. Leafs' GM Brian Burke has a tall order to fill

THE HOCKEY NEWS
Adam Proteau
london@metronews.ca

The Toronto Maple Leafs have made very little noise since their 2011-12 season crumbled into disaster. But that is likely to change at this weekend's NHL draft — and the only question will be whether GM Brian Burke undertakes a massive renovation of the roster, or continues to patiently build toward long-term competitiveness.

The Leafs have the fifth overall pick this year, but it would surprise no one to see Burke move higher in a trade with one of the four teams above him (Edmonton, Columbus, Montreal and the Islanders). However, he also could move down in the draft order if a team offered him immediate help for his NHL roster for the 2012-13 campaign.

And make no mistake, Burke is under enormous pressure to (a) get the Leafs into the playoffs next year, (b) find them a dependable No. 1 goalie and top-line centre, and (c) avoid depleting the organizational depth he's built up in his four years in Toronto.

It's a tall order, especially given that the franchise has just $13.5 million in salary cap space with which to work. But Burke is known to be a gambler and almost assuredly will take his best shot at hitting a home run on the trade market as he did in the Dion Phaneuf/Matt Stajan swap with Calgary.

If Burke stays where he is in the first rounds of the draft, he'll likely have a choice of forward prospects including Russians Alex Galchenyuk and Mikhail Grigorenko. There also could be some tantalizing defensive prospects such as Matt Dumba and Griffin Reinhart available, but the Leafs are much deeper at that position (including youngsters such as Jake Gardiner, Stuart Percy and Jesse Blacker) and need much more help at forward.

That said, Toronto needs to improve its overall prospect depth. Yes, their American Hockey League affiliate team made it to the Calder Cup Final, but don't take that to mean they're one of the league's top producers of top-tier talent. In THN's annual Future Watch edition, the Leafs had just two players in the list of the top 50 NHL prospects — and one of them was Carter Ashton, acquired late last year from Tampa Bay for Keith Aulie (the other is Joe Colborne).

In any case, regardless of what happens on draft weekend, don't expect the Leafs to be satisfied. Their rebuild demands a focus on the future as much as the present.

CLASSIFIEDS CUSTOMER SERVICE: 1 800 527-6767 - MONDAY TO FRIDAY 8:30 AM TO 6:00 PM (ATL) Metro requests that advertisers check their advertisement upon publication and advise Metro immediately if there are any copy errors in the advertisement as published. Metro will not be responsible for any error other than an incorrect insertion due to any act or omission of Metro. In any event Metro will only be responsible for one incorrect insertion of any particular ad regardless of the number of times such ad is run incorrectly. Metro's liability for any such error is limited to the amount actually paid by the Customer for a single publication of the advertisement in the space the ad is run. In no event shall Metro be liable for any non-insertion of any advertisement for any reason whatsoever. All copy is subject to the approval of the management of Metro. Metro reserves the right to classify all advertisements.

Horoscope

♈ Aries | March 21 - April 20.

Friends and work colleagues will ask for your opinions today, because they know you will tell them the truth. Don't be too brutal though.

♉ Taurus | April 21 - May 21.

Stick with what you know and trust. The planets warn that if you change, you will make a mistake and damage your reputation for efficiency.

♊ Gemini | May 22 - June 20. If you follow a hunch today, you will be delighted with the results. However, if someone else wants you to follow their hunches, you must decline.

♋ Cancer | June 21 - July 22.

Make your opinions known. Mercury in your sign gives you insights that other people do not possess, so speak up no matter how unpopular some of your ideas might be.

♌ Leo | July 23 - Aug. 22.

Something that just a few days ago seemed too much for you, will look remarkably easy today.

♍ Virgo | Aug. 23 - Sept. 22.

You've made enough concessions of late and now you must get tough with people who are abusing your generous nature.

♎ Libra | Sept. 23 - Oct. 22.

An issue you have been struggling with for several weeks will resolve itself today. Even so, you should give some thought as to why it took such a long time to be worked out.

♏ Scorpio | Oct. 23 - Nov. 21.

Creative activities will work out well today, but they will work out even better if you bring people into your confidence and let them know what it is you are trying to accomplish.

♐ Sagittarius | Nov. 22 - Dec. 21.

Someone in a position of authority will give you the chance to prove yourself today and you must seize it with both hands.

♑ Capricorn | Dec. 22 - Jan. 20.

What happens today will answer at least some of the questions you have been asking in recent weeks.

♒ Aquarius | Jan. 21 - Feb. 18.

You would like to go back and undo a mistake that had far-reaching consequences, but you know that's not possible. All you can do is learn from the situation.

♓ Pisces | Feb. 19 - March 20.

You may not get along with a someone but you'll have to work closely with each other today. The planets indicate there is a karmic attachment between you. SALLY BROMPTON
